

Greece Students' impressions from the Turkish mobility

Renia

In April I visited Turkey with the Erasmus program. I will definitely never forget this trip because I learned many things, I saw museums, I ate different food that was very delicious and I saw another culture different from this in Greece. The most important things are that I met people that I will never forget. All the Turkish teachers and students were very kind and generous. Of course all the families were very welcoming to us. I felt like I was at home. I am grateful to be part of this journey and meet all these people. I hope to meet them again. Thanks for everything.

From my mobility to Turkey I learned about their culture and their everyday habits. The Turkish students and teachers were really helpful with us. The program was well planned and combined learning and entertainment. I really liked our trip to Diyarbakir because we learned a lot about kemal Ataturk, but my favorite place was Harput because we visited the museum and the place was magnificent. I liked a lot their food even though it was spicier than usual and I realized some things were similar to my culture. It was a unique experience that I won't be able ever again to live.

All Turkish people were so Kind. I lived a different lifestyle and all my expectations were reached. My host family did the best for me and I enjoyed very much. When I travel I want to eat their traditional food and meet new people. We went to a lot of museums and places, danced and talked for a long time and that's how I learned a lot about the Turkish history, culture, traditions. My favorite day was Tuesday when we went to Diyarbakir. I also liked cooking and planting. I enjoyed the afternoons and our presentations as the old Ottoman drawing.
